"Physician" here is a specialist in internal medicine, or one of its sub-specialties, as opposed to a specialist in surgery (Wikipedia).

For an electronic copy of this guide (if you’re using a paper copy):

a. enter “guide for foreign trained physicians” in the search window on the home page of the Toronto Public Library website at www.torontopubliclibrary.ca and click on “Search”

b. click on “Guide for Foreign-Trained Physicians in Ontario” in the search results
c. click, again, on “Guide for Foreign-Trained Physicians in Ontario” in the blog post
1. Books and e-Books

1a. Books

The books listed below are in North York Central Library, 5120 Yonge Street, in the Science and Technology Dept., 5th floor or, where indicated, in the Business Dept., 4th floor, and/or Toronto Reference Library, 789 Yonge Street, in the Business, Science and Technology Dept., 3rd floor.

LOCATION OF BOOKS

If you are using an electronic copy of this guide, click on a book title to see which branches of the Toronto Public Library own copies. When the bibliographic record appears, scroll down to the “Copies and Availability” section.

Branch .......... The branches of the library that own copies of a title. Click on the name of the branch for its address and hours.

Format .......... “Book” means that the book “circulates,” that is, that it may be borrowed from the branch and taken home. “Reference” means that the book must be used in the branch.

Location ........ The location of the book in the branch. “Nonfiction” means that it’s shelved in the nonfiction collection. When a branch has more than one floor, like North York Central Library, the floor the book is on is given.

Status .......... “In Library” means that the book is currently in the library. “On Loan” means that it has been borrowed and taken home.

Call Number ...... The numbers and letters according to which books are arranged on the shelves. Books are arranged first by the number, then by the letters. The numbers correspond to the subject of the book. The letters usually correspond to the first three letters of the author’s last name.
If you are using a paper copy of this guide in the Science and Technology Dept. on the 5th floor of North York Central Library, the “Location” column in the lists of titles below shows whether or not the book may be borrowed and taken home; and the “Call Number” shows what shelf it is on.

Half-circle signs on the ends of the rows of shelves tell you what call numbers are in a row. First look for a row that includes the call number of the book you want. Then look for a white label on the bottom of the spine of the book with the call number on it.

- Circ ............... a “circulating” book (a book that may be taken home) that is located on the shelves in the public area of the dept.

- CircS .............. a circulating book that is located in a staff-only area of the dept. Ask staff at the reference desk for the book.

- Ref ................. a “reference” book (a book that has to be used in the library) that is located on the public shelves with the circulating books

- RefD ............... a reference book that is located at the reference desk. Sign out the book with your library card to use it in the library.

- RefS ............... a reference book that is located in a staff-only area of the dept. Sign out the book with your library card to use it in the library.

Please ask staff at the information desk for help if you are unable to locate a book.

To find books and audiobooks on practicing English, look for 428.34 in the ESL collection in the Language, Literature & Fine Arts Dept. on the 2nd floor.
1c. Searching the Catalogue

If you are using an electronic copy of this guide and wish to find books and e-books in the library catalogue with the same subjects:

- click on one of the subjects in sec. 1b above or on one of the subjects in this section, on p. 12 below, under Study guides, Case studies, etc.

  The subjects are linked to search results limited to books and sorted by publication date.

- click on the title of a book in the search results to get into the bibliographic record

- scroll down to the “Copies and Availability” section (see p. 2 of this guide) to see which library branches own copies and whether or not there are copies that you can borrow and take home

  To put a “hold” on a circulating book (to have it sent to a library branch from which you may take it home), click on the “Place Hold” button.

If you are using a paper copy of this guide and wish to find copies of one of titles listed in sec. 1a above in another library branch (possibly copies you can borrow and take home or, possibly, e-book versions of a title):

- go to the Toronto Public Library website at www.torontopubliclibrary.ca

- enter the title, or part of the title, in the search window and click on “Search”

  - click on the title of a book in the search results to get into the bibliographic record

  - scroll down to the “Copies and Availability” section (see p. 2 of this guide) to see which library branches own copies and whether or not there are copies that you can borrow and take home

To find books in the library catalogue with the same subjects as the subjects in sec. 1b if you are using a paper copy of this guide:

- go to the Toronto Public Library website at www.torontopubliclibrary.ca
b. go to the advanced search page by clicking on “Advanced” next to the search window at the top

![Image of advanced search page]

- Search books, movies, branches, programs & more
- Advanced
- Old Catalogue

c. select “Subject” from the “All fields” menu on the left of the search window

![Image of search window with Subject selected]

d. enter a subject, or part of a subject, in the search window and click on “Search”

A subject search in the library catalogue is in fact a keyword subject search. The search results are correspondingly mixed.

e. limit the search results to books by clicking on “Books” in the “Type” menu on the left; and sort the results by publication date by selecting “Date” from “Best Match” menu

![Image of search results with sorting options]

or, limit the search results to e-books by clicking first on “eBooks & Online Content” and then on “eBooks”

f. click on the title of a book in the search results to get into the bibliographic record

g. scroll down to the “Copies and Availability” section (see p. 2 of this guide) to see which library branches own copies and whether or not there are copies that you can borrow and take home
Study guides

To find study guides or examination preparation books by subject, do a subject search on the Advanced search page combining “physicians” or one of the subject headings in sec. 1b. with one of the following phrases:

- Examinations, questions, etc.
- Outlines, syllabi, etc.
- Problems, exercises, etc.

Examples:

- internal medicine examinations
- emergency medicine outlines
- pediatrics problems
- physicians examinations

To find study guides or examination preparation books for Canadian and U.S. exams, use one of the following subjects: “Physicians—Licenses—Canada” and “Physicians—Licenses—United States.”

Case studies

To find case studies, combine one of the subjects listed in sec. 1b with the phrase "Case studies."

Examples:

- emergency medicine case studies
- pediatrics case studies

Dictionaries

To find medical dictionaries, use the subject “Medicine—Dictionaries.”

Ethics and legislation

- Medical ethics
- Medical laws and legislation—Canada

Periodicals

To find Canadian medical periodicals, use the heading: “Medicine—Canada—Periodicals.”

To find periodicals on internal medicine or a subspecialty of internal medicine, combine one of the subjects listed in sec. 1b. above with the word “periodicals.”

Examples:

- cardiology periodicals
- oncology periodicals
