(1926-1957)
Inventory

Trevor Tremaine-Garstang (1892-1972), British actor and designer, came to Canada in 1920. He was stage manager and designer at Hart House Theatre 1926 through March 1928, designed sets and costumes for Jack Arthur at the Uptown Theatre on Yonge Street, Toronto, and toured Canada as stage manager and designer with the Maurice Colbourne Company. He acted in films and on the British stage under the name of Launce Maraschal, also writing radio and television scripts. The collection includes production photographs, publicity photographs, theatre designs, scripts, clippings, programmes and items of correspondence. It was donated by his son, Peter Garstang. Also included is a brief taped interview from 1957, courtesy of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

1944, Feb. 12. Famous Players, Toronto from Jack Arthur to TG in Vancouver. TLS replying to TG’s inquiries re drapes (not readily available due to wartime shortages). Glad to hear TG is back in stage production business and hopes show will be financial success.

1944, Sept. 26. Famous Players, Toronto from Jack Arthur. TLS apologizing for delay in response due to his absence on tour of the theatres. Gives contacts in B.C. and Calgary/Winnipeg for TG to inquire re Famous Players theatres interested in playing stock. Glad to hear TG had successful summer season and comments on the last season at the Royal Alexandra where Frank McCoy had a successful season with a stock company. Describes his method of operation and suggests, based on enthusiasm of Toronto audience for “flesh shows” that TG might do well working in a limited radius rather that touring cross country.
